NAVIGATING THROUGH DISRUPTIVE BUSINESS INNOVATION

- An internal audit perspective

Disruptive innovation has altered business across the world. The speed of change is rapidly increasing every decade since the last few years its velocity is quicker. Business models being disrupted through innovative use of technology is common. The innovation wind is spreading wide and even the marketplace itself is being reinvented for various industries, with the customer being part of the delivery chain and serving himself/ herself. In this environment catching up is not a priority, reinventing services and delivery model is. Welcome to the world of Bots & Cognitive applications that mimic human thinking. All of this is not only being applied in manufacturing alone but in business and its accounting, reporting, etc. Some CAEs are performing remarkably well in this environment and this CAE Leadership forum is going to make a difference in the way you view your future role ahead.

Are CAE's ready to bring value to their entities to navigate through disruptive innovation? The 2017 CAE Leadership Forum aims at preparing CAE's change their mindset and start looking at opportunities to equip themselves thereby being ahead of the curve for being a collaborative partner for enabling disruptive innovation and its internal audit. Delegates will have the opportunity to network and listen to towering leaders and experts.
